Longest Will on Record. What is called the longest will on record is that of Captain Robert Keayne, founder of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Bos-

It contains about 50,000 words. Printed and bound, it would make a good sized volume, comparing favorably in length with many a novel of the pres-

In its voluminous proportions this will is in striking contrast to one probated in New Orleans a number of years ago, in which the testator disposed of its earthly possessions in five words-namely, "Mistress Roper is my heiress,"

The original of Captain Keayne's will is carefully preserved in the vaults of the register of probate of Suffolk county. In volume 1 of the record of wills probated it covers 140 pages, and it is recited in the will that the document was drawn up in the handwriting of the testator.

While Captain Keayne, who was originally a merchant tailor in London, left a fortune of fair proportions for his day, it is of interest to note that at the present day fortunes of millions of dollars are frequently disposed of in complicated trusts by only a few hundred words.-Boston Post.

Chivalry and Fatness.

Have you never noticed that great personal bulk and chivalry go almost always together? Well, they do, and I am reminded of a circumstance that happened long years ago. There was in congress from the state of Alabama a gentleman named Dixon Lewis. He was notorious for his stoutness as well as for his courtliness and abilities. This gentleman was a Virginian by birth, but removed early to Alabama, which state he represented during several terms of congress and was in the senate at the time of his death in 1848 Biographers relate of him that one time after the adjournment of congress he was on his way home in a steamer that was wrecked and while he had an opportunity to do so refused to take a seat in a small boat because his great weight would jeopardize the lives of others in the boat, and, although for a time he was in great danger, he was at last rescued. There was a noticeable combination of chivalry and fatness.-Washington Post.

Famous Epicures.

Nero's "golden house," on the Palatine hill, were compartments inlaid with ivory which revolved, showering perfumes and flowers on the guests. Flowers were presented to the guests by slaves. They were crowned with wreaths. Usually after one course the ables were removed and others placed before the guests. Throughout the meal drinking continued until the banqueters fell under the table stupefied. In those days men lived to eat. Great generals spent fortunes accumulated in years of warfare in gratifying their appetites. Luculius on one dinner with Cicero and Pompey spent 50,000 drachmas, or $7,000. Pithylus, who was famed for the delicacy and originality of his dinners, wrapped his tongue in linen when not using it. That he might better appreciate flavors of the viands he had it cleaned with fish skin before dining.

Earthquakes as Warnings.

The belief that earthquakes are signs or warnings owes its origin in part to prophecies in the Bible, where, for example, we read that "there shall be famines and pestilences and earthquakes" as portending future calamities. Earthquakes have led to the abolition of oppressive taxation, the abo lition of masquerades, the closing of theaters and even to the alteration of fashion. A New England paper of 1727 tells us that "a considerable town in this province has been so far awakened by the awful providence in the earthquake that the women have generally laid aside their booped petticoats."-

Rule of Three.

"Well," said a persevering governess. "I will put it in another form. If it takes one servant nine bours to do the entire housework of a family how long will it take three servants to do it?"

Tommy - Oh, I know, teacher. heard mamma speak of it only this

Governess-Well how long will it take them? Tommy-Three times as long-London Tatler.

Treason and Reason. Archbishop Ryan once concluded a brilliant defeuse of the Irish cause when a listener shouted: "But the Irish are guilty of treason." "Perhaps," replied the archbishop, "but please remember that what is treason elsewhere becomes reason in Ireland because of the absentee."-Cleveland Leader.

Getting Along.

Miss Goodley-Miss Hussle goes in for everything. She's constantly doing something. Miss Knox-Yes, but the one thing she is doing most steadily she won't admit. Miss Goodley-What sis that? Miss Knox-Growing older.-Catholic Standard and Times.
